

THANKS TO PARTNERSHIPS LIKE YOURS, JROTC Prepares Denver Students for College and the Workforce!

“This program helps me be a better person. I want to be able to grow as a leader and take what I’m learning here and apply it to other areas of my life.”

ARMY JUNIOR RESERVE OFFICERS’ TRAINING CORPS (JROTC)

blends character education, academics and hands-on exercises to promote leadership, teamwork, physical fitness and professional skills. Cadets directly impact our community by volunteering their time and resources supporting food banks, visiting veterans homes and participating in patriotic ceremonies for our country.

DPS students — many of which are the first in their families to attend college — are supported throughout their career planning journey with intentional lessons: resume writing, financial management, test-taking strategies for college entrance exams, and applying for government financial aid and scholarships.

Denver has some of the highest-ranked teams in the worldwide JROTC program!
